PROJECT TO PROVIDE JOBS FOR VETS

ONE OF HUNDREDS OF DEVELOPMENTS started by the Bureau of Reclamation in the west which will provide jobs for at least 50,000 World War II vets and farm homes for some 85,000 families is an irrigation project near Tucumcari, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reed (above) watch the first fresh water reach their parched acres shortly after work began. When completed the project will supply water through a 75-mile long canal to 45,000 acres of fertile but hitherto arid land. (International)

Don Juan On Way To Lisbon As Opposition To Franco Rule Grows

LONDON, Feb. 1—Don Juan, eldest surviving son of the late King Alfonso XIII of Spain, arrived from Switzerland today enroute to Portugal for a reported meeting with Gen. Francisco Franco to discuss restoration of the Spanish monarchy.

Simultaneously, a United Press dispatch from Madrid said the Franco government was expected to adopt increasingly severe measures against armed opposition in Spain.

A Spanish army communiqué conceded that a force of "bandits" was operating in the Gijon area on the Bay of Biscay coast.

A Lisbon report quoted Royalist sources as confirming that Don Juan and Franco will meet in the Spanish-Portuguese frontier.

The 34-year-old pretender to the throne was accompanied on his flight from Switzerland by his wife, Doña María, his political advisor Eugenio Luis Latapé, and Viscount Juan Luis Rocamora.

Lisbon Monarchist sources said Don Juan was clinging to his previously announced stand that he would ascend the throne only if assured that any invitation from Franco to do so had no strings attached.

Spanish informants in London said Franco was "bent on" against stepping down unless assured of a good position in a monarchic regime.

Don Juan's full name is Juan Carlos Teresa Silverio Alfonso de Bourbon, third son of King Alfonso XIII, who abdicated the Spanish throne in 1931 and died in Rome 10 years later. Don Juan is a great grandson of Queen Victoria of Britain.

A United Press dispatch from Madrid said that well informed sources took a serious view of a small raid made on the Spanish coast near Gijon early this week from France by men whom a Franco communiqué called "bandits."

The communiqué said three "bandits" were killed while trying to join what it called "a larger gang of local bandits." It claimed they were "obviously misled by foreign press and radio propaganda."

Ohio Colleges Are Provided Temporary Housing For Veteran Students

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—The federal housing authority today allocated 9,726 temporary dwelling units to meet critical housing needs of veterans and service men's families in 12 states.

The units will be moved or converted at government expense under the new $191,900,000 appropriation approved by Congress to meet veterans or servicemen's housing needs in cities or at colleges where acute shortages exist.

FAA said sufficient units to fill the new allocations were not now available but that they will be provided as soon as possible from idle war housing, barracks and similar construction.

Ohio cities and colleges were allocated units as follows:

Athens 25 family; Bowling Green 10 family; Cincinnati 500 family; Cleveland 1,200 family; Columbus 400 family; Dayton 311 family; Mansfield 74 family; Marion 50 family; Youngstown 200 family; Mt. NAZIS PLANNED TO VASSALIZE ALL OF EUROPE

NUERNBERG, Feb. 1—British Prosecutor Sir Edgar Faure told the War Crimes Tribunal today the Nazi plan for annexing western European countries to vassalage.

He quoted from documented conversations at Reichsmarschall Hermann Goering's headquarters in June, 1940 outlining plans for annexation of Luxembourg, Germanization of Norway and re-incorporation of Alsace-Lorraine.

Plans also were outlined for creation of a Breton state project covering the Belgian Flemish population and creation of a state of Burgundy.

Faure took over the prosecution after French prosecutor Charles Du Bois had charged that the Germans deported, starved, over-worked or executed millions of Europeans "like worthless cattle" in violation of common as well as international law.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—President Truman has summoned Price Administrator Chester Bowles back from a South Carolina vacation for a White House conference on matters presumably related to the steel strike.

It was learned today that Bowles was ordered to return in time to confer with the President tomorrow morning. It was believed the conference would be on the subject of a steel price increase.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman scheduled a conference for 4 p. m. today with members of his steel fact-finding board. The board, which suspended its work while steel wage negotiations were still going on, has been collecting cost-wage-earnings data for the President since the strike started.

Dirksen was expected to draw some support but advocates of the Case bill remained confident. The motion for consideration of the measure was backed by 152 Republicans and 106 Democrats, mostly southerners.

NEW BIG UNION LEADER SOUGHT

Independent Unions Want To Organize As Check On CIO And AFL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Leaders of independent unions were looking for someone to head a third major organization representing this country's estimated 1,000,000 unaffiliated union members.

The independents, who feel that a third organization is necessary to check the CIO and AFL, lost their No. 1 choice when John L. Lewis took his United Mine Workers back into the American Federation of Labor.

WALTER CENERAZZO, president of the American Watch Workers union, said the independents were disappointed by Lewis' action but added that it had not dashed their hopes of forming a third American labor movement.

His statement coincided with an appeal by AFL President William Green at Miami urging the CIO and the independent unions to return to the AFL—"back to the parent body."

The AFL already had its answer from the CIO, however. Officials of that group said previously that Lewis' action wouldn't make much difference "one way or another" to the CIO. Philip Murray, CIO president, said he had no interest in the AFL action.

LESTER REID TO BE CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Lester S. Reid, former prosecuting attorney of Ross county and well-known in Circleville, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressional representative from the 11th Ohio district, according to an announcement from Garrett S. Claypool, chairman of the Ross county Democratic executive committee.

Announcement of the candidacy of Mr. Reid, recently discharged from the U. S. Army as a sergeant after 30 months service, is being made by a committee made up of the chairman of the five Democratic executive committees of the 11th Ohio district and the state central committee and state central committee women of the district.

Mr. Reid, who is 38, has practiced law in Chillicothe since graduation from Ohio State University law school in 1930. He is married, has one child and resides in Chillicothe. He was born in Darbyfield county and reared near Duvall in Pickaway county where his father has resided for many years.

Experts Recommend Total To Meet Expenses Of First Year Of Setup

BULLETIN LONDON, Feb. 1—Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky told the United Nations security council today that Russia insists on the speedy and unconditional withdrawal of British forces from Greece.

LONDON, Feb. 1—United Nations budget experts recommended today a provisional UNO budget for 1946 of $24,978,000.

About $18,000,000 of the budget would go to covering the cost of the secretariat for the first year of the world peace organization.

The budget estimate was presented as the security council prepared to take up Soviet charges that the presence of British troops in Greece is a threat to the peace.

The provisional budget was drawn up by Gladwyn Jebb, executive secretary, and an advisory group of experts. It will be taken up at an early meeting of the assembly's administrative and budgetary committee and then submitted to the assembly for final approval.

The budget will cover the financial period ending Dec. 31. It includes the cost of the preparatory commission meeting in November and December of last year.

UNO experts have not agreed on how the expenses of the organization will be allocated. It probably will be under a formula of costs in proportion to ability to pay.

The main items in the budget were expenses of the general assembly, security council, economic (Continued on Page Two)

FBI ENDS OHIO SAILOR'S CAREER AS 'COMMANDER'

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1—Robert Angers, 19-year-old Burton, O., merchant seaman mess boy who switched bell bottoms for the more alluring role of lieutenant commander was free today with a warning to be more discreet in his choice of rank in the future.

U. S. Commissioner Norman S. Griffin said there appeared to be no malice in the young man's choice of two and one-half gold stripes and no red, other than naval dignity, came from Robert's escapade.

Angers, arrested by the FBI on charges of impersonating an officer when the Navy protested it had no 19-year-old Lieutenant Commander either topside or below deck, told Griffin his sudden promotion was the result of his shipmates' sense of humor.

He said that he was injured in a fall while his ship was in foreign port. Friends wrote his mother that his injury came from an act of heroism on his part, and that he was promoted to lieutenant commander.

Mr. Reid will report the results of an intensive membership drive conducted this week in his organizational report.

After the lunch, the afternoon program will open at 1 p. m. with music by the Pickaway Boys Quartet—Bob Wilson, Gene and Sharrett and Max Wolf. Music will also be offered by Lucille Neal of Darby township. The music will be followed by Governor Lausche's address, after which the meeting will be adjourned.

The news was "broadcast all over town," Angers said, and when he returned home there was a crowd waiting for him at the train station, including the mayor.

To avoid further embarrassment, he said, he signed for another ship in a few days. He was seized by FBI agents here as he stepped from the Liberty Ship John Jay.

MERCURY CLIMBS AFTER 18 LOW IS RECORDED HERE

Circleville residents set for bitter cold weather Friday were pleasantly surprised when temperatures rose during the day from a low of 18 Friday morning.

Colder weather, however, is predicted for Saturday with partly cloudy skies. High temperature recorded Thursday by Weather Observer Roy Hawkes was 50 degrees.

The long range forecast predicts somewhat warmer temperatures Sunday changing to colder weather, accompanied by snow flurries, Monday.

Normal mid-Winter temperatures were reported throughout most of the U. S. today, with no radical changes due until after the weekend.

Sub-zero readings were recorded in the Dakotas, Minnesota and northern Wisconsin, but the mercury ranged in the low twenties in most of the Midwest and Great Lakes region. Coldest spot in the nation was Minot, N. D., which registered temperatures of 20 degrees below zero at 5:30 a. m. Other low readings were 18 below at Pembina, N. D., and six below at Wausau, Wis.

Stelle Accuses Vet Chief Of Failure To Use All Hospital Beds

Stelle said VA's handling of insurance was confused; that incompetent help had been used to process mail; and that VA activities had been scattered "all over Washington and New York."

"There has been an apparent unwillingness on the part of the veterans administration to utilize the staffed hospital beds available in Army and Navy hospitals... and to service those in need of hospitalization in this emergency," Stelle said.

"Measures for emergency hospitalization should be adopted at once, the authorized program for hospital construction launched immediately and the unjustifiable and unwarranted delay in processing claims for benefits be eliminated."

Stelle said a half million applications for disability payments lie unprocessed. He called the delay "unjustifiable and unwarranted." More than 7,000 applications for hospitalization await action, he asserted.

Stelle cited a backlog of 102,830 unprocessed applications for GI education; 20,411 pending claims for waiver of insurance premium; 18,847 undisposed death claims; and 287,000 unanswered letters.

"The American Legion feels that the time has come when it must speak positively of the dereliction of the veterans administration in order that our people will see to it through their representatives in congress that their government keeps faith with those who sacrificed in its defense," Stelle told congress.

Bradley supporters point out that he inherited an organization built to care for 5,000,000 men but which, with the end of World War II, suddenly became responsible for the care of 20,000,000.

Many of the failures criticized by Stelle have been repeatedly cited by Bradley in support of his pleas for office space and personnel.

AUSSIE WIFE OF CITY VETERAN SEEKS DIVORCE

Marital difficulties of a Circleville veteran increased Friday with the filing of a divorce petition by a wife who resides in Australia.

The veteran, Joseph Raymond Whaley, was divorced from Geraldine Doyle Whaley, on December 26, 1945, by common pleas court after Mrs. Whaley, a minor, through her father, Thomas Doyle, charged that Whaley had another wife living when he married her.

The Australian wife states in her petition, received by mail from "Down Under" that she and Whaley were married February 12, 1944, at Queensland, Australia, while Whaley was serving overseas, and that a daughter, Sandra Jane was born of the marriage.

The Australian wife asks for a divorce on charges of gross neglect of duty and asks for support and custody of the child.

Her petition was notarized by Eva Bryan Wilson, vice consul of the United States government for the state of Queensland, Commonwealth of Australia.

SMITH MAKING SECOND STAND BEFORE PROBERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Vice Adm. W. W. Smith, chief of staff of the Pacific fleet in 1941, faced his second session before the Pearl Harbor investigating committee today.

Rep. John W. Murphy, D., Pa., said he wanted to question Smith particularly about the extent of Army and Navy cooperation at Pearl Harbor before the Dec. 7, 1941 attack.

Smith told the committee in his first appearance Tuesday that he never had a personal conference with Col. Walter C. Phillips, who was chief of staff of Army forces in Hawaii.

Smith served under Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet. Phillips served under Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, commander of army defenses in Hawaii.

PROBE OF VA BY CONGRESS ASKED BY VETS

Stelle Accuses Vet Chief Of Failure To Use All Hospital Beds

Stelle said VA's handling of insurance was confused; that incompetent help had been used to process mail; and that VA activities had been scattered "all over Washington and New York."

"There has been an apparent unwillingness on the part of the veterans administration to utilize the staffed hospital beds available in Army and Navy hospitals . . . and to service those in need of hospitalization in this emergency," Stelle said.

"Measures for emergency hospitalization should be adopted at once, the authorized program for hospital construction launched immediately and the unjustifiable and unwarranted delay in processing claims for benefits eliminated."

Stelle said a half million applications for disability payments lie unprocessed. He called the delay "unjustifiable and unwarranted." More than 7,000 applications for hospitalization await action, he asserted.

Stelle cited a backlog of 102,830 unprocessed applications for GI education; 20,411 pending claims for waiver of insurance premium; 18,847 undisputed death claims; and 28,160 unanswered letters.

Backers of Anti-Strike Bill Confident House Will Approve Stern Law

(Continued from Page One) liable in the courts for violations of their contracts. It would also ban violence by strike pickets, foremen's unions, labor boycotts and would provide a 30-day no strike cooling off period.

Opponents of the bill charged that it would "wipe out all of labor's gains in the last 60 years."

The AFL executive board said it would destroy the "constitutional rights of workers."

Its supporters replied that it would do nothing of the kind. Rep. Howard W. Smith, D., Va., said it would merely "draw a dividing line between the legitimate and illegitimate activities of organized labor."

Dirksen said his proposed compromise would be patterned after the fact-finding bill recently introduced by Sen. Brien McMahon, D., Conn. It would strengthen the mediation and conciliation services of the labor department and would set up "boards of inquiry" similar to the fact-finding panels proposed by Mr. Truman.

The Dirksen bill, however, would not give the boards subpoena powers nor provide for any cooling off period.

Pro-union congressmen were counting on a White House veto in case both the house and senate adopted drastic labor legislation.

UNO BUDGET OF $24,978,000 IS BEING STUDIED and social council, and trusteeship council, $2,500,000; expenses for secretariat, $17,906,000; expenses of international court of justice, $700,000; "unforeseen expenses," $3,000,000; expenses of preparatory commission and cost of this assembly session $872,000.

The Russian-British controversy was potentially a greater threat to big power unity than the Iranian case. There was no way to refer the Russian charges to bilateral negotiation, as was done with Iran.

The UNO assembly late today will elect Trygve Lie as secretary general, adopting in plenary session the security council's unanimous nomination of the Norwegian foreign minister.

Before the security council met there was speculation that Russia might not press its case against Britain to the maximum because of the Iranian compromise.

The Soviet Ukraine delegate, Mikola P. Bajan, stated before the assembly's refugee committee that hundreds of Ukrainian war criminals were hiding in western Germany. He claimed that 400 of them were obtaining asylum in the UNRRA camp at Augsburg.

DRIVER IS HELD AFTER CAR HITS PARKED AUTOS

Clinton Fortner, 55, laborer of Ashville, was arrested Thursday at 8 p. m. by the Circleville police on a charge of driving while intoxicated following an accident on East Main street at 7:40 p. m.

Police said parked cars belonging to Roy E. Groce, shoe merchant of 447 East Main street, and Justice of the Peace Harold E. Eveland, were damaged when the Fortner car struck the Groce car and pushed it against the Eveland vehicle.

Mr. Groce was in his car when the Fortner car struck and was shaken up considerably by the impact, police said. The force of the impact thrust the Groce car against the rear end of the Eveland car, which was parked unoccupied, causing the back end to cave in, police said. The rear end of the Groce car was also damaged.

The ship, carrying 12 soldiers, six civilians and three crew members, radioed a routine progress report from over Sinclair, Wyo., at 2:40 a. m. (MST) yesterday and was not heard from again.

While the filibusters rested their lungs, they let Sen. John M. Mead, D., N. Y., speak one hour in favor of the bill. He said the charge of communism was a "red herring dragged across the trail of this bill." He conceded the bill would not eliminate all ill-feeling between races but added that "it at least would eliminate some of the effects of prejudice."

In addition to the Benders, the Walter P. Briggs, veteran airline pilot, was captain of the ship. First officer was Harry M. Atlass and the stewardess, Dorothy Carter, 22. All were based in Portland.

Names of the servicemen were withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

Frank Crismon, United Airlines assistant supervisor of flight operations in Denver, flew over the mountain top yesterday and reported a slash, or burned-out patch, from an altitude of 11,000 feet. He said the fog had obscured most of the view.

Crismon's finding, coupled with a report of a fire on the mountain top about 20 minutes after the ship was reported on course over Sinclair, strengthened the belief that it had ploughed into the side of the mountain and burned.

Jewelry stolen by them was recovered. They reportedly set fire to the Columbus theater to cover up the theft of a gun from the theater.

OTHMAN OFFERS TEXAS TALE TO ALL READERS

Fried Rattlesnake And Live Snake In Story About Texas Gathering

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Unhitch your spurs, padres, so you won't scratch the table top and I'll tell you how a cowgirl in an evening gown from Texas tried to feed a fillet of fried rattlesnake to Van Johnson, the movie feller.

I'll tell you about Adm. Chester W. Nimitz of the Texas Navy and the 150 pounds of goat meat from Kerr county; about the live rattler making buzzing noises on the 12th floor of the Statler hotel! And how the toastmaster pointed a three-foot shootin' iron with a pearl handle at Attorney General Tom Clark and made him do his stuff.

The Texans shipped in a Texas airplane 10,000 pounds of fixings for a Texas meal, including Texas snake, Texas bullfrogs, Texas goat, Texas beef steaks, Texas strawberries, Texas grapefruit and 21 kinds of Texas vegetables. They brought along a live Texas rattler, in case supplies ran low and invited all the Texans hereabouts for a shindig of bragging about Texas.

They hauled on their tuxedos over their high-heeled boots, poured Texas gin on the Texas olives in the Texas martinis and were going good, bragging about T---s, when their party somehow got mixed up with the march of dimes ball in the same hotel.

Padres, I'm telling you straight, if Texas is like this, then Washington is a dull place. Listen close:

Leeroy Crawford, the San Benito president of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers, stood at the microphone, dipped a Texas shrimp into some Texas horseradish, chewed same thoughtfully, and introduced Nimitz, the Texas admiral.

Adm. Nimitz shed his jacket with the gold braid, wrapped a Texas bandanna around his neck, put on a Texas stetson, and opened his mouth to speak.

"Hey, Mr. Nimitz," cried another Texan from the other side of dining room, "you will have to stop. Here is Van Johnson".

All the cowgirls in the evening gowns oohed and then they aahed. The admiral stood there with his mouth open. Johnson rushed up to shake his hand and then it was that the lady in the spangled dress showed some Texas tact.

"Won't you have a nice piece of broiled Texas rattlesnake, Mr. Johnson?" she asked, holding the platter his way.

Johnson's eyes bulged, he shook his head as if to rouse himself from a nightmare (that's all right, Texas; it was a California nightmare) and in the voice of a man dazed, he said:

"My good gosh."

He got out of there and that was the last the Texans saw of him. Adm. Nimitz said he thought at first those Texas strawberries were Texas watermelons. His wife (a California girl) said there must be something in the soil of Texas to make its sons talk that way.

Constance Moore, the movie queen from Dallas, hefted two Texas red blush grapefruit and a Texas orchid. A radio performer known as Sen. Claghorn made a speech and then a Texan named Austin E. Anson hauled out his overgrown horse pistol.

As manager of the Texas Vegetable Growers, he beckoned with this cannon to Attorney General Clark, who reckoned to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson, and swore him in as an honorary Texan upon his promise to look out for Texas citrus fruit. A new day was dawning before the Texans finished their Texas filibuster and headed upstairs where there was a buzzing behind the bedroom door.

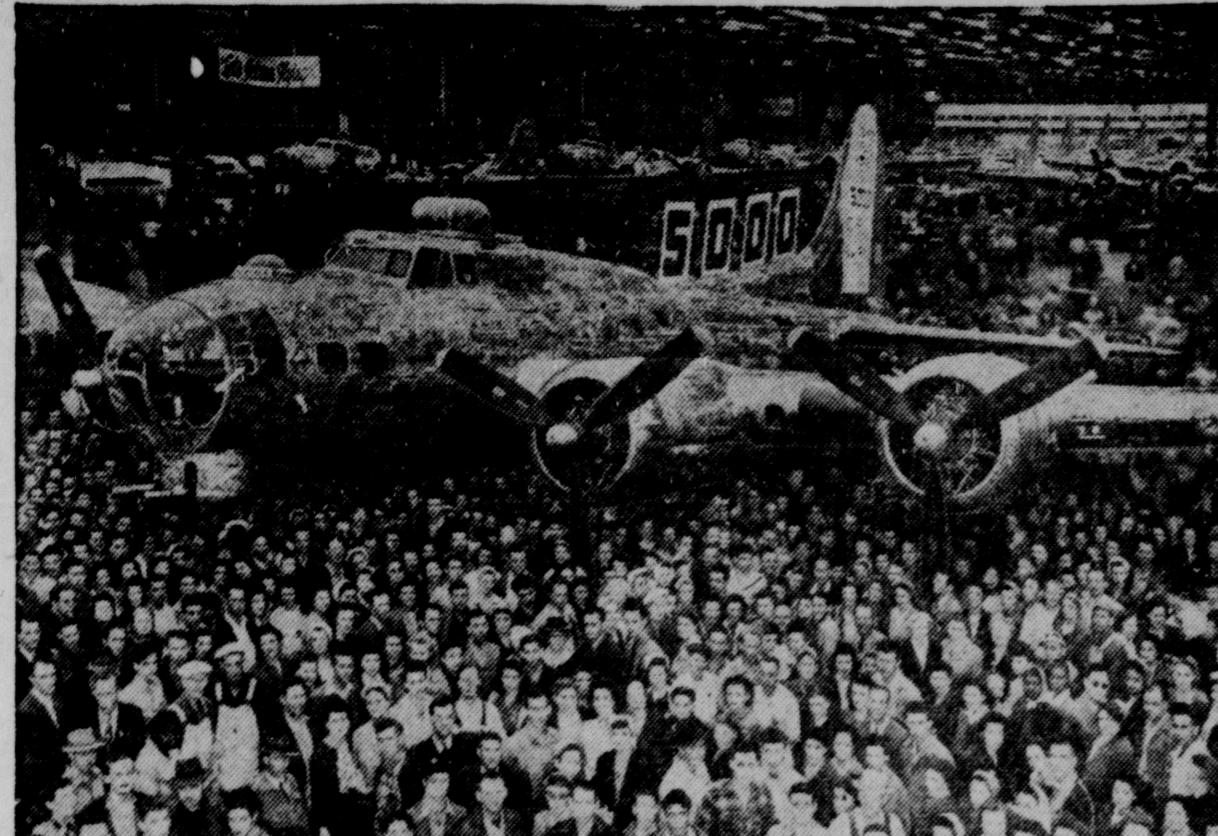

"I forgot him," said Crawford. "I left him under your bed."

"You go in," said Anson. "He's your snake."

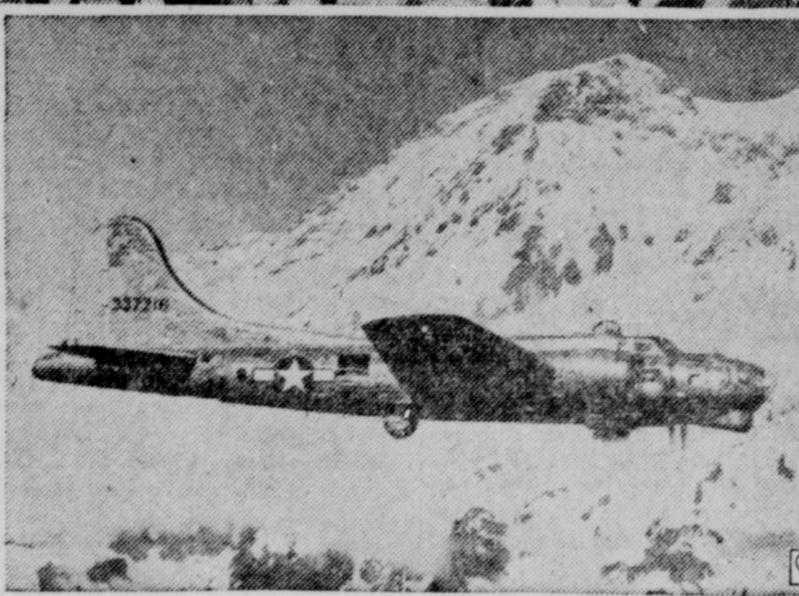

Padres, I'd like to tell you what happened next, but I'm no Texan. St. Louis, Mo. is my home town and I'm headed that way. I don't even like rattlesnakes, friend.

CAPT. GUY CLINE IS DECORATED

Bronze Star Medal Awarded To Ashville Man At English Base

Captain Guy G. Cline, of Ashville, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for services in the European Theatre of Operations in connection with military operations as Assistant Staff Judge Advocate, Headquarters, United Kingdom Base, from September 21, 1944, to May 7, 1945, a Public Relations Office announcement states.

The citation for the medal states that "Captain Cline worked with utter disregard for personal comfort to organize an efficient general Courts Martial System capable of taking over the monumental task of accumulated cases. As a direct result of his unstinting efforts, Captain Cline made a major contribution to the successful operation of military justice."

Few, if any, members of the Judge Advocate General's department, handled such a volume of work without a single reversal, Army officials stated in the recommendation for the award.

Captain Cline reviewed 20 cases per month and aided and supervised in the reviewing of 827 other general court martial cases during the period from September, 1944, to May 1945. Of the more than 200 opinions rendered during this period by Captain Cline, all were approved without exception by the Assistant Judge Advocate General of the ETO, the recommendation pointed out.

It was further stated that because of the unstinted manner of the performance of Captain Cline it was possible to reduce the time element in obtaining final disposition of the cases from 71 days in March to a new low of 31 in June, which surpassed the record time in all other communications zone jurisdictions except one.

His wife, Mrs. Ruth L. Cline, resides at 49 Scioto street, in Ashville.

RADAR WEATHER PROPHECIES ARE SAID FOOLPROOF

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—Radar is a fool-proof weather prophet that can literally forecast a tempest in a teapot, according to Lt. Col. Harry Wexler of the Army Air Forces weather service.

The magic weapon can detect a hurricane or a typhoon within a 200-mile radius or can pick up a local thunderstorm with equal ease, Wexler revealed yesterday at a joint meeting of the American Meteorological Society and the Institute of Aeronautical Science at Columbia University.

Radar, he said, had detected the recent Florida hurricane 20 hours before it hit the mainland, recorded the contour of the storm, its directional speed and its intensity.

Before it was discovered that radar detected storms, flyers used to fly themselves dizzy trying to find non-existent aircraft, Wexler reported.

Kentucky's first permanent settlement is near the site of Harrodsburg, once known as Old Fort Harrod.

OTHMAN OFFERS TEXAS TALES TO ALL READERS

Fried Rattlesnake And Live Snake In Story About Texas Gathering

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Unhitch your spurs, podners, so you won't scratch the table top and I'll tell you how a cowgirl in an evening gown from Texas tried to feed a filet of fried rattlesnake to Van Johnson, the movie feller.

I'll tell you about Adm. Chester W. Nimitz of the Texas Navy and the 150 pounds of goat meat from Kerr county; about the live rattler making buzzing noises on the 12th floor of the Statler hotel! And how the toastmaster pointed a three-foot shootin' iron with a pearl handle at Attorney General Tom Clark and made him do his stuff.

The Texans shipped in a Texas airplane 10,000 pounds of fixings for a Texas meal, including Texas snake, Texas bullfrogs, Texas goat, Texas beef steaks, Texas strawberries, Texas grapefruit and 21 kinds of Texas vegetables. They brought along a live Texas rattler, in case supplies ran low and invited all the Texans hereabouts for a shindig of bragging about Texas.

They hauled on their tuxedos over their high-heeled boots, poured Texas gin on the Texas olives in the Texas martinis and were going good, bragging about T-ss, when their party somehow got mixed up with the march of dimes ball in the same hotel.

Podners, I'm telling you straight, if Texas is like this, then Washington is a dull place. Listen close:

Leeroy Crawford, the San Benito president of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers, stood at the microphone, dipped a Texas shrimp into some Texas horseradish, chewed same thoughtfully, and introduced Nimitz, the Texas admiral.

Adm. Nimitz shed his jacket with the gold braid, wrapped a Texas bandanna around his neck, put on a Texas stetson, and opened his mouth to speak.

"Hey, Mr. Nimitz," cried another Texan from the other side of dining room, "you will have to stop. Here is Van Johnson".

All the cowgirls in the evening gowns cooed and then they aahed. The admiral stood there with his mouth open. Johnson rushed up to shake his hand and then it was that the lady in the spangled dress showed some Texas tact.

"Won't you have a nice piece of broiled Texas rattlesnake, Mr. Johnson?" she asked, holding the platter his way.

Johnson's eyes bulged, he shook his head as if to rouse himself from a nightmare (that's all right, Texas; it was a California nightmare) and in the voice of a man dazed, he said:

"My good gosh."

He got out of there and that was the last the Texans saw of him. Adm. Nimitz said he thought at first those Texas strawberries were Texas watermelons. His wife (a California girl) said there must be something in the soil of Texas to make its sons talk that way.

WILLIAMS AC 5 HANDS LEADERS FIRST DEFEAT

Merchants Take 53-35 Loss;
Williamsport Cops 47-46
Thriller; Isaly's Wins

Roundtown Merchants had suffered their first defeat of the year in Industrial basketball league play and followers of the league were watching the Williams AC team as one of the best teams in the loop Friday.

Displaying devastating fast break, the Williams AC team trounced the previously unbeaten Merchants 53-35 Thursday night at Roll and Bowl.

"Snapper" Ankrom set the scoring pace in the game with 22 points. C. Gulick came through with 15 as the Williams team ran all over the Merchants. "Club" Valentine and Bob Moon had 12 points each for the losers. J. Gregg was held to one basket.

The Williams club, which formerly played under the name of New Holland, led 26-17 at the half.

Williamsport and John Deere staged a real thriller with Williamsport finally winning 47-46. John Deere led most of the way and at one time had about a 10-point lead. But in the final moments of the game the Williamsport club started hitting and annexed the winning basket with about 15 seconds of play left.

Elliot had 15 points for the winners while Luckhart of John Deere was high in the game with 18. Seigwald made 15.

Isaly's, which has lost only to Merchants, scored a 50-40 win over Eshelman's in the other game.

Trego of the losers had 16 points for high man. Wilson had 15 and Weller 12 for Isaly's.

DEAD' JAPS RETURNING

TOKYO (U.P.)—Many Japanese servicemen believed to be dead are turning up alive—and this presents quite a problem. Hence, it has been announced here that those who have been enshrined by mistake will be eliminated from the list of the dead by Imperial Ordinance.

Several big deals were reported cooking. One of the most eager customers was Cincinnati, hoping to peddle one of its several catchers to the St. Louis Cardinals for a southpaw slugger. The Cards offered Johnny Hopp in this category but the Reds weren't interested and it appeared that Hopp, the handy-man of the Cards for the last four years, would go on the block as the bargain buy of the session.

MAJORS RULE AGAINST BONUS PAY TO ROOKIES

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—Taking a business as usual attitude, the major league moved today to crack down on members in their midst with overloaded bankrolls as well as the bumper crop of rookies flushed by the sight of victory money.

A special committee of the two leagues recommended for adoption at the majors' meeting opening today a rule that any player paid a bonus for signing be made subject to the waiver rule if his employers decide he has not, or can not, make the grade.

In other words, a prize rookie picked off the campus of some college or the loom line of a spinning mill cannot be bought up for a neat sum and then farmed out for his prep work. The St. Louis Cardinals, for instance, could not give a player a bonus for signing and then farm him out to Columbus without the rest of the clubs in the league passing on him.

The celebrated case in point was Dick Wakefield of the Detroit Tigers who was signed off the University of Michigan campus for $52,000 (with an automobile thrown in, some people say). The Tigers had him out to pasture for two years before he came into Briggs stadium as a star.

The majors' recommendation was in line with the minor leagues' recent application of a flat ban on bonuses-for-signing.

Several big deals were reported cooking. One of the most eager customers was Cincinnati, hoping to peddle one of its several catchers to the St. Louis Cardinals for a southpaw slugger. The Cards offered Johnny Hopp in this category but the Reds weren't interested and it appeared that Hopp, the handy-man of the Cards for the last four years, would go on the block as the bargain buy of the session.

CHANDLER URGES OB HELP BOOST SANDLOT PLAY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler asked organized baseball last night to spend millions of dollars on a world-wide program of sandlot games for the good of the game and of war veterans.

The commissioner told the 42nd annual banquet of the Philadelphia sporting writers association that the sandlot program was "an obligation to the new generation," and that it would set the standard for the major leagues of tomorrow.

Chandler shared the spotlight with Canadian-born Mervil Frost, 1945 Dartmouth football co-captain who was chosen the most courageous athlete of the year.

A naturalized American citizen, the 24-year-old, 160-pound athlete played halfback at Dartmouth in 1941 and 1942. He enlisted in the air corps in January, 1943, declined to take cadet training and flew to North Africa in December, 1943.

An aerial gunner and sergeant, he flew combat missions over Italy and the Balkans until he was trapped in the crash of a flaming plane in which seven crew members died.

Burned severely about the upper body, neck and face, Frost's hospital ordeal was spent mainly at Valley Forge general hospital.

After his discharge, he returned to Dartmouth in June, 1945, and last Fall was an outstanding triple-threat quarterback in the Indians' T-formation backfield.

He received the weekly Maxwell club award in Philadelphia and the Yale gridiron club award for the best individual showing at the Yale bowl.

MAN AND CAT GET APARTMENT, FAMILIES OUT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1—Painter Harry Eldridge and his Siamese cat, Duke, today were back in their five-room apartment, and two servicemen and their families were out.

Eldridge went to municipal court yesterday to support his right and his cat's to plenty of living space. He told Judge Joseph Marcelli he came home from a Christmas vacation to find five other people living in his flat.

"They offered me a room and kitchen privileges," he said.

Landlady Dorothy Remley explained she was only trying to help the housing shortage when she gave Eldridge's flat to Merchant Marine Officer J. H. Trear, his wife Barbara, and their three-month-old daughter Kathleen, and Merchant Marine Officer Robert Yochim and his wife, Lillian.

The court decided the apartment belonged to Eldridge, and the cat, and ordered the servicemen to move.

"Imagine a man who would live in a big apartment alone with his cat," Yochim commented.

The United States will be 75,000 short of its required normal quota of trained engineers and scientists until at least 1950, says Dr. H. P. Hammond, engineering dean at Pennsylvania State College.

HOMECOMING IS SCHEDULED AT DARBY TONIGHT

Four County League Games On Bill; Circleville 5 At Wilmington

Miss Mona Lu Gantz, senior, and Miss Penny Combs, sophomore, will reign as homecoming queens at the Darby-Jackson basketball game Friday night at Darby. Coronation ceremonies will take place preceding the dance which will follow the game. Dad's Night is also being observed on this date.

Attendees chosen for the occasion are Miss Marilyn Troutman, senior, and Miss Betty Jean Ridle, junior.

Miss Gantz, 17, is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Gantz, Harrisburg, and Miss Combs, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Combs, Orient.

The game is one of four Pickaway county league contests scheduled tonight. In other contests New Holland plays at Pickaway; Washington at Circleville and Perry at Monroe.

Circleville high school cagers were scheduled to leave late this afternoon for Wilmington where they will attempt to score their second SCO league victory of the season and their third of the current campaign.

Wilmington won here but the Tigers are hoping for revenge.

Reserve squads of the two schools will meet about 7:15 p.m. with the varsity contest down for 8:15 p.m.

CITY BIDS FOR SAFETY AWARD

Efforts To Be Made To Keep Traffic Accidents At Minimum In 1946

Circleville will compete in the Ohio traffic safety contest for 1946, it was announced Friday.

The community has again been enrolled in the annual contest by Patrolman George Green of the police department, Perry T. Ford, state highway director, announced.

In entering this community in the contest, Patrolman Green pledged:

"Realizing that cooperative action by all governmental agencies, civic groups and individual citizens is necessary to carry on an effective program of traffic accident prevention, our city will lend every possible assistance to help make Ohio the safest state."

The Ohio Traffic Safety Council, which sponsors the contest with the active support of the Ohio department of highways, pointed out:

"Traffic safety is all-important at this time, as evidenced by the alarming increase in motor vehicle accidents since V-J day. As motor vehicle travel returns to or exceeds the normal pre-war level, every indication is that the traffic toll will continue to rise unless accident prevention activities are made effective through every means that human ingenuity can devise and that organized group action can further."

The Ohio traffic safety contest is for cities of 4,000 or more population. The cities are divided into seven population classifications and awards are made in each of these classifications to the communities showing the greatest traffic safety improvement for the year.

The seven population classes into which the contest is divided are: (1) 250,000 and over; (2) 100,000 to 250,000; (3) 50,000 to 100,000; (4) 25,000 to 50,000; (5) 10,000 to 25,000; (6) 5,000 to 10,000; (7) 4,000 to 5,000.

Circleville was accorded honorable mention in its population group in the Ohio traffic safety contest for 1944, having had a reduction of traffic fatalities for that year compared with 1943.

The winning cities in the Ohio traffic safety contest for 1945 will be announced after March 15, 1946, deadline for submitting reports.

U. S. BIG GAME POPULATION UP WITH GUNS IDLE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—The big game population of the United States increased six times as fast as the human inhabitants during the period 1941 to 1943, the fish and wild life service reported today.

American big game animals increased 5.9 per cent during the period that hunting was curtailed by a wartime shortage of ammunition and hunters. The human population gained less than one per cent in the same period.

Big game animals totaled 6,748,424 in 1941 and increased to 7,148,422 in 1943. Leading big game states in 1943 were: Pennsylvania, 1,104,655; Michigan, 731,407; Minnesota, 631,877; California, 587,625 and Oregon, 584,261. Kansas reported no big game.

Deer were the most plentiful, making up 89 per cent of the big animal population. Only 15 caribou were reported. Hunters killed 739,396 big game animals in the 1943 season.

LEND-LEASE AID REPORT GIVEN

Truman Says Help To Allies In Five Months Amounted To $46,040,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—President Truman told congress Thursday that lend-lease aid to other nations totaled $46,040,000,000 from March, 1941, to October 1, 1945.

In transmitting the 21st report on lend-lease, Mr. Truman told congress that negotiations for final settlement have begun with many governments.

The books have already been closed with Great Britain, the largest single recipient of lend-lease aid, he said, adding that settlement is expected in most cases by June 30. Some adjustments may be necessary after that time, however.

The report covered the third quarter of 1945, during which regular lend-lease was terminated. The report emphasized, however, that it has been necessary to continue certain types of lend-lease aid to help bring about surrender of Japanese troops, and in bringing American troops home, and avert financial embarrassment both to the United States and to countries receiving our help.

During July, August and September, the report showed, lend-lease totaled $1,885,000,000, not

NATIONAL TROUBLES

A good deal of the Washington news lately seems like a modern edition of the famous old formula, "confusion worse confounded." Maybe nobody is to blame, in a moral sense. Maybe it is chance or fate that has brought the country into a situation where there are so many big problems awaiting solution, and apparently so few statesmen able or willing to tackle the difficulties and get things going normally again.

It is the war that has brought these things upon us, but it is men—human courage and experience and intelligence—that must resolve them and get the great Ship of State and its lesser craft into effective operation.

Such a situation as ours has been lately would throw almost any European country into paroxysms and start a whirligig of changing governments. But that is not the American way. We may hesitate and stumble and mumble in a crisis, and get excited and, in a situation like the present, do some real worrying. But we generally keep our shirts on. And so things work out all right eventually—if the fellows inside of the shirts have the intelligence to appraise our public problems accurately, and the courage to see things through in spite of hell or high water.

STRIKE LOSSES

TENS of thousands of eager Americans will not get their new cars this coming spring, because of the strikes, with their inevitable delays. It is a serious matter to let the furnace fires go out, as has been done in a great many factories. The longer such strikes last, the longer it takes to get the plants into commission again. The workmen understand this as well as anybody, and thousands of men are probably getting restive about the situation, with its inevitable lost time and pay.

Such considerations may serve to shorten the idle period, but there is no telling. A labor group, like other groups, usually wants to finish any undertaking that it has begun, at whatever cost. But looking down from the gold bar of heaven, an angel who took any interest in the matter probably wouldn't understand it. Certainly most ordinary human beings don't.

R. F. C.'s George Allen Once Pass-the-Buck-to-Washington Thought Up a Charade but Habit Still Highly Popular

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—I knew George Allen, presidential confidante and newly appointed member of the R. F. C. I knew him—when.

When I knew George Allen, he was a commissioner of the District of Columbia. With his extremely pretty blonde wife, Mary, he had gone, on the occasion of which I am about to boast, to a supper party at the home of Col. and Mrs. Albert Warner. Warner was then the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune. He is now an important news broadcaster.

His wife, Harriet, was then, as now, a witty and charming woman. Mrs. Warner suggested that evening that her guests play charades. The guests enthusiastically agreed. George Allen and I were teamed together to present some popular word.

In the Warner kitchen we found two brooms.

George and I, thereupon, raced into the drawing room riding the brooms as hobby horses. Nobody guessed what we represented. This made us very sad. George and I thought we were so good. We were representing "The Gallup Poll." But we didn't get a prize. The new member of the R. F. C. is still mad about this slight to our inventiveness.

George Allen "BUT TEACHER, you didn't tell me what to do..." This is the new national cry.

You heard it at the Pearl Harbor investigation when Admiral Kimmel and General Short testified: "We didn't have a thing to do with the loss of the fleet. Washington hadn't told us what to do. We're just scapegoats for Washington. How were we to know how to behave way off there in the Pacific?" Teacher hadn't told them.

A simple citizen might reasonably inquire: "But what were you

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—Billy Bryant, the old Mississippi river showboat man, is anxious to get back to troupers on ol' man river.

"The government put me out of business during the war, when all shipping had to be essential," he said during a visit to the Stork Club. "But I'm hoping to get me a new boat soon and go back to work."

Right now the hoofer, self-confessed ham and impresario is trying a new racket. The Colston Leigh lecture bureau, one of the largest of such outfits, is breaking him in as a platform player for the women's clubs and college groups.

"It isn't as good as acting, but so far I like it fine," Billy said. "I just get up and tell them about the showboat days on the river; give them some stories to laugh at. They tell me that's what these people want to do—laugh; that they're getting tired of hearing so much about the world's ills and need a little respite. Well, I've been making people laugh for a long time along the river. These new audiences ain't much different in the long run."

Billy himself looked trim and hearty and he said that his famous family was in the pink, although "the old folks are getting along."

I ran into Billy after he had made an appearance briefly on a special television broadcast over NBC's WNBT station in Radio City. The 50-minute telecast, a mixture of film and "live" performances, mostly the latter, was "Children of Ol' Man River," and it was a rather liberal dramatization of part of Billy's career.

The show was unique in that it was a television version of the radio show which will be heard on Du Pont's Cavalcade of America broadcast next Monday night from Hollywood at 8 p.m. It served almost in the role of a movie trailer telling of a forthcoming film, but with a reverse twist. Despite some production flaws, the telecast was much more interesting and entertaining than the radiocast can hope to be.

There were three television sets in the viewing room on the ninth floor—the production studio was on the third—and each was a different size. In the front of the room was a screen about two feet wide. Projection of a large image has been made possible by a plastic lens which can be made quickly and at relatively small cost. The images on this screen were good, but there was not the sharpness of light differences which registered on the two smaller screens.

The role of Bryant was played by Buddy Pepper and I'd recommend that any Broadway producer looking for a personable young leading man for a musical show grab him. Mary Scott, who isn't much larger than a minute and twice as charming, played Billy's sister, Flo. Lillian Cornell was the girl who later became Billy's wife. Three stage veterans, Eda Heineman, W. O. MacWatters and Tony Blair, appeared as Ma Bryant, Captain Rice, a rival river showman, and Pa Bryant.

I entered the studio as a skeptic, but emerged with the feeling that even some obvious production "bugs" had not kept it from being a good show.

progressive ideas, and one of these ideas is that while it may take God to make trees, man has to plant them.

doing in such important commands if you couldn't think for yourself or feel a constant sense of personal responsibility? Pearl Harbor was an outpost. In itself a point of danger. It is you who are passing the buck. Like everybody else, you are passing the buck to Washington."

• SPEAKING OF THE DAYS when Mr. Roosevelt was in the White House, I found on my book shelf a copy of "The Best News Stories of 1933 and 1934."

The New Deal had just begun with the solemn promise of Franklin Roosevelt to the people of the United States that he would "act and act quickly" to meet the crisis which the collapse of the banking structure had forced upon the nation. He said further that, if there were not sufficient authority in the executive to meet this crisis, "I shall demand that such authority be reposed in me."

Not a bad thought for Mr. Truman to consider in the present labor crisis.

For the president of the United States is the most outstanding political personality in the United States—indeed in all the world. He is not only the fountain of executive energy among the nations, he is also the representative of a great people. He has tremendous influence with the people and thus great weight with Congress. Whenever his voice is raised in favor of a measure it is heard by the whole of the American people and often by the millions of the entire world.

He is the most powerful ruler on earth. I think it is time he started showing his power and began to throw a little heart into some wobbly spirits and a proper fear of what the White House might do unto spirits gone momentarily berserk. It takes a strong hand to control a nation flushed with victory.

• THE PICTURE OF GENERAL EISENHOWER as he was besieged by service wives demanding that their men be sent home didn't look too flushed with victory. The general of the armies was undoubtedly a great soldier when he had only an armed enemy to deal with. But he did quail before the "Girls that the fraternizing boys left behind them." Poor Ike! "Beware the fury of a woman scorned" . . . half a dozen poets have said it.

Professor and Mrs. O. P. Clutta, (Hazel Gerhardt) left today for Bowling Green where they will reside. Prof. Clutta is teaching in the University of Bowling Green.

Pain in the Back a Symptom Of Various Disturbances

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BACKACHE is not a disease in itself, but people often get into the habit of calling any pain in the back "lumbago" and then consider the pain as a definite type of disease. However, in reality, backache is just a symptom which may vary in intensity from a mild dragging sensation to severe pain, and there is no single disease which is responsible.

So, do something for a "backache." It can be seen how important it is to find out just what is causing the pain in the back.

The pain or other symptoms may be due to trouble with the spine, the muscles, or the connecting tissues, as well as to many disorders within the abdomen.

Spinal Column

The spinal column is made up of many bones which are separated by cartilage, which acts as cushions. The bones are held together by ligaments, muscles, and connective tissues, and, of course, the movements of the spine are controlled by the muscles. Thus, any disturbance of posture, the way a person stands or sits, or any disease affecting the bones, muscles or ligaments, which in turn affects the posture, may lead to backache.

In the back, there is a joint known as the sacro-iliac joint. It is located between the last bone of the spine or sacrum and the hip bones.

Although the sacro-iliac joint is very strong, it is subject to frequent injury. In pregnant women the joint may be somewhat relaxed, but after birth of the baby, it normally tightens up again. Occasionally this does not occur and as a result, pain in the lower part of the back develops.

Short Leg

Another cause of strain of the sacro-iliac joint is a short leg. The short leg will cause the pelvis or hip bones to tilt to one side. The spine will also be curved to the side, which puts pressure on the sacro-iliac joint.

One would hardly believe that eye troubles such as nearsightedness would lead to pain in the back, but it apparently does, for the nearsighted person gets into the habit of peering ahead to get closer to objects he wishes to see. This is especially true of children.

This, in turn, leads to bad posture with round shoulders and, as a result, pain develops in the middle of the back and the base of the neck. It is important that the nearsighted person be fitted with proper glasses.

Thus, simple disorders as well as more complicated ones may be responsible for pain in the back and it is obvious that until the cause is found, speedy relief is not possible.

JENNY SHOT out of the house and down the walk. She heard Gram calling after her, "Have you a clean handkerchief?" shouted back.

"Two of em," and proceeded on her way. The little gate squeaked, stuck as usual, and she gave it a violent shove which nearly removed it from its protesting hinges. She thought, tearing down the street, Gram's like Mrs. March in "Little Women," and chuckled. She was, she calculated, a minute and a half late for the bus.

She turned the corner on, so to speak, one wheel, and there it was, just shoving off. She yelled, "Hi!" and the bus groaned and stopped. Passengers craned their necks, and the bus driver grinded. The passengers settled down again. It was just little Jenny Newton, making the bus again, by the skin of her pretty teeth.

Jenny looked out the windows.

There wasn't a street in Seaville she didn't know; not a corner, not a turn, not a road, and hardly a house.

She had been born in the town, which meant close to the sea. Her grandmother said, in a storm, the worst autumn storm in years. Her mother's fragile young life had gone out with the tide that October morning and ten years later Jenny's father had died in another storm, washed off the deck of a small fishing boat . . .

"Okay," said Jenny cheerfully. "So I'll break it, and you can take up a collection among the passengers and send lilies. Gosh, Mac, I haven't any change!"

"As usual," said Mac, with resignation. But resignation was not all he felt when he looked at Jenny. He was this side of 40, and had a good wife, but she weighed 156 pounds and suffered from allergies. Jenny weighed about 110, dripping wet, and apparently she could eat anything. She was 20 years old and Mac had known her for at least three-quarters of her lively life. Before the increased pace of the Seaville shipyard, together with gas restriction on private cars, had brought Mac's lumbering bus into being. He had driven a taxi and many a time he had been called to the Newton house.

Pain in the Back a Symptom Of Various Disturbances

She climbed on, hatless, breathless. Her short, slightly shabby tweed skirt of prewar vintage, displayed excessively good legs. The spring sun was tangled in her curly red hair. Her face was rosy with exertion, her blue eyes smiling and relieved. The bus driver prophesied, kindly, "Jenny, one of these days, when you do a Dogwood, you're going to break your neck."

"Okay," said Jenny cheerfully, "so I'll break it, and you can take up a collection among the passengers and send it to Gosh, Mac, I haven't any change!"

Seahaven was an old town. The bus was turning away from the residential section now, leaving the wide, tree-bordered streets with the strips of violet-starred grass between sidewalk and road, into the narrower, crooked business section.

All the roads led to the sea. Seahaven smelled always of the sea, of wet, rotting timber, of new shavings and of fish. Today it smelled of spring, for the lilacs were coming into flower and presently it would be Decoration Day and the country club would open . . . and after that summer would come in, blue and gold and green and the white beaches would be crowded with youngsters and the sun would sparkles on the little waves and you could almost forget the war . . .

Passing Canton street, Jenny looked out and saw Dr. Barton's car parked outside one of the little white frame houses. Canton street was paved with blocks brought from China in the clipper ship days. The Seahaven yard had built notable clippers. They had had great designers, great captains. They had competed in the tea races, sailing from Pagoda Anchorage, nine miles below the city of Foochow, where the branches of the yellow Min unite. Gram never let Jenny and Edie forget the clipper days. Nor could they, if they wished, for the square white house in which they lived, with the orchard behind, and the wide green lawn in front, was topped with a square structure known as the Captain's Walk or, more grimly, Widow's Walk. And the Newtons had always been ship-builders and seafarers.

The big man sitting next to Jenny spoke to her, putting his hand over the subdued roar of the engine and said, "Tell Edie to call me up some day. I haven't seen her for weeks."

Jenny nodded, and then scowled slightly. The good-looking girl was Agnes Simpson. Edie was Jenny's older sister. Only last week Edie had spent an afternoon with Agnes and had come home to narrate the events of the day, in detail, to Jenny and Gram.

Jenny shrugged. She gave up. Agnes, despite her new husband, and never baby, was as scatter-brained as she had been when she and Edie were in High together, giggling in the Newton back yard or slurping up sodas at the Busy Corner. Jenny was a lucky creature. Her husband was not only attractive, but 4-F.

Jenny looked out the windows. There wasn't a street in Seahaven she didn't know; not a corner, not a turn, not a road, and hardly a house. She had been born in the town, which meant close to the sea. Born, her grandmother said, in a storm, the worst autumn storm in years. Her mother's fragile young life had gone out with the tide that October morning and ten years later Jenny's father had died in another storm, washed off the deck of a small fishing boat . . .

"It isn't she told herself severely, that he's the best-looking man I've ever seen. At least, not entirely.

The man next to her asked: "Think you'll like it?"

"Sure," said Jenny, "I'll be crazy about it. It isn't as if I didn't know something about the job. Remember last winter when Miss Grantly was ill, and I took over for two weeks?"

He said, "Well, good luck. Come down and see us sometime, won't you?"

The bus made a special shipyard stop, as did all the other buses. The Seahaven shipyard was very busy, these days, building small, fast, deadly craft for the Navy. Production had stepped up, a thousand percent, and the yard had been enlarged. People from all over the state had poured in to find employment there. That was one trouble, Jenny thought, you no longer knew everybody.

She and a dozen others, got out at the yard, passed the guard, showing their badges, packages or lunch boxes. The guard peered solemnly into Jenny's handbag. He said, "You girls carry the darnest truck."

He always said it. Some day he'd astonish him and present for his inspection a bag as neat as Gram's remarkable reticule. She would have special places for powder and lipstick, handkerchief and cleansing tissues, change bills and cigarettes. The guard would faint.

She was still smiling when she reached the private offices in the old red-brick building. They had

In Church At Newark

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bowers, North Court street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Louise, to Raymond E. Daily, son of Mrs. Raymond E. Daily and the late Mr. Daily, Waverly.

The marriage was solemnized in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Newark, January 29 at 5 p. m. by the Rev. C. M. Danford. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schauweker, Newark, were the only attendants.

The bride attended Western College of Women and was graduated from Ohio State University where she received her masters degree. For the past several years she has been a teacher in the East High school, Columbus.

Mr. Daily, who is engaged in the practice of law in Waverly, was graduated from Ohio State University and received his legal training at Ohio State and Columbia University, New York City.

They will reside in Waverly.

Mrs. Mendelsohn
Will Be Member
Of Cardinal Party

Mrs. Louis Mendelsohn, Detroit, will leave February 10 for Rome. Mrs. Charles G. Shulze, South Court street, her sister, was informed Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Mendelsohn will accompany Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, in his trip to Rome, to participate in the Consistories in which more prelates will be elevated to the Sacred College of Cardinals at one time than ever before in history.

A party of twenty-two will accompany the Cardinal on the trip which will be made in a private plane leaving LaGuardia field at noon on February 10 and expect to arrive in Rome early the next day.

Mrs. Mendelsohn will join the party on the invitation of Cardinal Spellman, a personal friend of both Mrs. Mendelsohn and Mrs. Shulze. Others in the party will include prelates of the New York diocese who are friends of the Cardinal and members of his immediate family.

Gleaners Class
Meets With Leists

When the Gleaners class of the Pontius U. B. Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leist near Cedar Hill, Thursday evening, the President, Jacob Gitt, was in charge of the devotions who read the 88th Psalm. Miss Ethel Brobst then offered prayer.

Mrs. Clarence Clark read a letter from a missionary whom the class is supporting. The service was closed with prayer by Mrs. Leist.

Mrs. Raymond Peters and Mrs. Guy Stockman were in charge of the program which consisted of readings by Mrs. Larry Goodman, Mrs. Jacob Gitt, Mrs. Robert Arledge and Mrs. James Lovett. A group of contests were also enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovett will entertain the class for the next meeting at their home near Stoutsville.

'Searchers' Topic
Of Youth Fellowship

A guitar duet by Donna Reed and Shirley Blake opened the meeting of the Methodist Youth Fellowship meeting with Jean Heine, president, in charge of the business session.

The program topic was "Tireless Searchers". An article was read on Louis Pasteur.

A meeting of the cabinet was held following the meeting and the program for the next meeting was arranged. It was also decided to hold all future meetings on Sunday evening.

James Lytle will be in charge of the next meeting which will be held February 3 at 6:15.

Garments of brushed rayon will remain soft and fluffy a long time if washed carefully by hand, not crowded into a washer.

JEAN DRESBACH,
CHARLES SEARCH
ARE MARRIED

Miss Jean Dresbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Dresbach of Kingston, became the bride of Charles Search, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Search, also of Kingston, at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Kingston Methodist church. The Rev. Leroy R. Wilkin officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Ferns and palms banked the altar, while tall pedestal baskets of white gladioli, snapdragons and chrysanthemums were flanked by lighted tapers in seven-branch candelabras.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore traditional white satin.

A double veil of illusion, fingertip length, was caught to a halo of the same material. Her single strand of pearls was a gift of the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet of white roses was centered with a white orchid and tied with a shower of white satin ribbons.

Miss Kathleen McGinnis was maid of honor. She wore rose marquise over satin and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas, Dutch iris and acacia. A cluster of similar flowers was worn in her hair.

Harry Search, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Dwight Davis and Raymond Davis.

Guests in attendance from this vicinity included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bush, New Holland; Mrs. Allen Ankrom, Circleville; Frank Schaeffer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schaeffer and Donald Roshon, Amanda.

The bride has been employed at the State Highway department in Chillicothe and Mr. Search has recently been discharged from army service after spending 35 months in the ETO. He is an employee at the Kingston Postoffice.

Following a short wedding trip they will reside at 36 West Pickaway street, Kingston.

Personals

Mrs. Ben Grace, lecturer for Pomona grange announces that the speakers for the meeting Saturday at the Saltcreek township school will be F. K. Blair and Lawrence Liston.

Mrs. Carl Kennedy will speak to the members of the Monday club at Memorial Hall next Monday evening on "Collecting the News". She will tell of the United Press and Associated News Services. A guest speaker originally scheduled for this meeting will be heard at a later date.

"Hobbies" will be the subject of the paper that Mrs. Robert Adkins will present before the Child Conservation League at the home of Mrs. David Harmon, South Court street, Tuesday. Mrs. William Duvall, Jr., will also read a paper entitled "Today's Children for Tomorrow's World".

Members of the Past Chiefs club of the Pythian Sisters are asked to note the change of date for the meeting to Tuesday evening at Mrs. Marion's Party Home.

The Messrs. Russel Crouse and Howard Lindsay are relieving Paramount pictures of $300,000 in advance payment for the screen rights to their hit show, "State of the Union." They also will receive 50 per cent of the picture's gross receipts after production costs. The Fall of 1947 will see the picture's release.

The third annual $125,000 novel contest sponsored by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will begin June 24 and end July 22.

And speaking of books, the publication date of actor Errol Flynn's first novel, "Showdown," a sea tale, is set for February 18.

NEW UNIQUE QUIZ SHOW

Radio listeners will have the novel experience of being on the inside track as far as answers to "20 Questions" are concerned, through the instrumentation of a "Mystery Voice" which will divulge the solution to puzzlers presented to a panel of experts, on the new quiz program which will have its premiere Saturday, February 2, 8 to 8:30 p.m., over Mutual. The "20 Questions" series is to be a game quiz broadcast, during which a permanent panel, headed by Bill Slater as chairman, will attempt to identify objects and personalities suggested by listeners. The panel will consist of Herb Polesie, Fred Vander Tuter, Florence Rinald, 14-year-old Bobby McGuire, and a guest personality each week. "20 Questions" will replace the "Whisper Men" series, formerly heard at this time.

NEW UNIQUE QUIZ SHOW

Radio listeners will have the novel experience of being on the inside track as far as answers to "20 Questions" are concerned, through the instrumentality of a "Mystery Voice" which will divulge the solution to puzzlers presented to a panel of experts on the new quiz program which will have its premiere Saturday, February 2, 8 to 8:30 p.m., over Mutual. The "20 Questions" series is to be a game quiz broadcast, during which a permanent panel, headed by Bill Slater as chairman, will attempt to identify objects and personalities suggested by listeners.

The panel will consist of Herb Polesie, Fred Vander Venter, Florence Rihard, 14-year-old Bobby McGuire, and a guest personality each week. "20 Questions" will replace the "Whisper Men" series, formerly heard at this time.

In the field of applied science, you can expect in 1946—

That an insect-killer deadlier than DDT will be made available to the public;

That metals will reach wonderful developments which capture Egyptian formulas lost thousands of years ago;

That three-dimensional full-length films will vie for the public's regard;

That electronic devices, more miraculous than even Aladdin's jinnie, will be placed on the market.

The source for these predictions is a reliable one, namely Sherman H. Dryer, producer and director of the popular science series, "Exploring the Unknown," which

Rotarians Study Atomic Energy With OSU Cyclotron Director

DR. POOL TELLS ABOUT ATOM USE IN THE FUTURE

Professor Says Everyone Will Benefit From
Atomic Energy

Everyone will benefit greatly from the marvels of atomic energy was the statement made by Dr. Marion Pool, director of the cyclotron and professor of physics at Ohio State University, at the Rotary Club meeting Thursday.

Uranium has many practical uses ahead for it in the large field of power and health, but application of its benefits on a general scale is still a long way off, Dr. Pool said.

Professor Pool explained the great difficulties experienced in separating the active U-235 from U-238, a heavier but less active form of uranium. He said that the government spent $500,000,000 at Oak Ridge, Tenn., extracting the U-235 from U-238.

The result was well worth it, however, he declared, and gave as an example of the effectiveness of the new power the fact that when TNT explodes, five volts are generated, but when one atom is split, 40,000,000 volts are released.

This tremendous power can be harnessed safely for useful use for man, he said. Radioactivity has already been a factor in treatment of cancer, Dr. Pool explained. He showed slides depicting a man's face before and after neutron treatment for cancer.

Professor Pool went on to say that the discovery of how atoms could be split proved Einstein's law and that there would have been no atom if Einstein's law did not exist. The discovery of the atom bomb was an outgrowth of Einstein's ideas, he added.

Dr. Pool showed the Rotarians pictures of a machine that is used on the Columbia river to generate power and explained that energy can be stored for future use and is being stored—a principle of great importance for storage of the tremendous amount of energy released by atom-splitting.

NEW YORKER IS HELD BY FBI FOR EXTORTION

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 1—FBI agents today held Benjamin Edelstein, 39, of New York, whom they had sought for eight years for alleged extortion of money from foreigners by threatening to prosecute them for illegal entry into this country.

Agent Joseph E. Thornton said that Edelstein and his wife, a young Detroit girl, were arrested yesterday in Lake Worth, Fla., and would be arraigned before a U. S. commissioner here.

Thornton said Edelstein had been indicted in New York City for conspiracy to violate the federal impersonation statute. Edelstein allegedly was a member of a gang which impersonated immigration inspectors and obtained money from several persons on threats of illegal entry prosecution.

Others in the gang, already convicted were Arthur Turbillion, known as "Dapper Dan" in confidence circles; Stephen Stahel and Ben Hamid, Thornton said.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 1—More than 35,000 rounds of assorted ammunition stolen from Army and Navy magazines were recovered today with the arrest of nine boys ranging in age from 12 to 16.

The boys admitted taking 25,260 rounds of small ammunition, six mortar shells, two anti-tank rockets, 25 hand grenades, seven 37-millimeter shells, 40 parachute flares and other assorted shells from an isolated munitions magazine near Fort Lawton.

Police still were looking for an explanation of what the youngsters planned to do with their miniature arsenal.

PRESIDENT AND CHURCHILL WILL HAVE MEETING

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 1—President Truman and former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill will meet in Florida during the President's vacation trip which begins Feb. 11, it is revealed today.

The meeting will be informal at a location yet to be announced.

Both are to be honored by Florida colleges this month. Churchill will receive an honorary degree from the University of Miami on Feb. 26. Mr. Truman will receive a degree from Rollins college, at Winter Park, on Feb. 11.

From Winter Park the President reportedly is to begin a fishing trip on the presidential yacht, lending to the speculation that his meeting with the former British leader may be at sea.

Churchill's ocean meeting with a second American president would be far different from his first—when he met with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt to sign the Atlantic Charter.

Churchill, vacationing here for the past two weeks, leaves at 1:15 p.m. today with Mrs. Churchill for Havana, Cuba. They will return to Miami Beach on Feb. 10. In Cuba the Churchills will visit with President Ramon Grau San Martin.

The party will fly in a Flying Fortress provided by President Truman. Col. Frank W. Clarke, host of the Churchills, will accompany them on the Cuban flight.

'GHOST MARINE' MAY BE BROTHER OF LANGSTON

JONESBORO, Ark., Feb. 1—Marion Langston, 18, brother of Arkansas' "Ghost Marine," has been missing for nearly a month, his mother, Mrs. Naomi Hendricks has disclosed.

The youth has not been seen since he left the home of friends in Seattle, Wash., Jan. 6, she reported.

The mother's description of Marion tallied very closely to that of the stranger who appeared at Newport, Ark., 12 days ago and claimed to be William Langston, a marine reported killed on Iwo Jima last March 7.

Mrs. Hendricks said Marion had an injured back and wrote her several months ago that he had broken his leg.

The stranger who claimed to be William Langston walked with a limp, Newport residents who saw him reported.

Mrs. Langston said she had tried to contact her young son in the hope he could throw some light upon the mysterious stranger who convinced several Newport residents that he was William.

The appearance of the stranger at Newport brought Mrs. Linda Langston Ossignac, widow of

FRED MILLIGAN DISTURBS GOP HARMONY SLATE

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—The harmony slate set up by Ohio's Republican leaders met its first major opposition when Fred J. Milligan of Columbus, recently an Army Air Force major, filed petitions as a candidate for the party's nomination for lieutenant governor.

Milligan had announced his intention to run for the office three months ago. Since that time he had been under pressure to withdraw in favor of the harmony candidate, Paul M. Herbert, Columbus attorney who held the office for three terms.

Milligan said that Herbert had assured him he had no intention of running for lieutenant governor, and according to Milligan had made the same statement to David H. Sears, republican chairman of Wyandotte county. Both Milligan and Herbert were born in Wyandotte county.

Milligan said he made the decision to stay in the race after he had received replies on the matter from 50 of the 88 county chairmen.

NEW SUSPECT IN KIDNAP - MURDER IS QUESTIONED

CHICAGO, Feb. 1—A new suspect, identified by police only as a man named Smith, described by a former north side waitress as one she heard talking about a "$20,000 job," was questioned today in the kidnap-slaying of six-year-old Suzanne Dugan.

A ransom note left by the person who kidnapped Suzanne from her bedroom asked $20,000.

Smith, a handyman, was seized after Gloria Williams, 23, alias Patricia Gordon, told officers in Sheboygan, Wis., that she had overheard "Smitty" tell a tavern companion that "the job ought to be worth at least $20,000."

Police said a photograph of the man in custody would be sent to Sheboygan, where the waitress now is serving a 30-day sentence on a vagrancy charge. If she identifies the photograph, they said, she will be brought back here to face the man.

NOTICE!

We, the undersigned, who are owners of restaurant licenses with the privilege of selling alcoholic beverages, do hereby serve notice to their patrons that beginning February 1, 1946, the following closing hours will be observed in the City of Circleville by the undersigned:

SATURDAYS: No alcoholic beverages will be served after 11:45 p. m. and patrons will be asked to vacate the premises by 12:00 o'clock midnight.

WEEKDAYS EXCEPT SATURDAY: No alcoholic beverages will be served after 12:45 a. m. and patrons will be asked to vacate the premises by 1:00 o'clock a. m.

Owners who observe earlier closing hours will continue to close at the earlier hour.

The undersigned recognize and respect the difficulties arising in the sale of intoxicating liquors and especially the presence of minors in such places of business.

Prior to Dec. 23, 1933, the State law forbade any minor to ENTER INTO any premises where intoxicating liquors were sold. This law was REPEALED on that date by the Ohio General Assembly with the result that there is NO LAW TODAY forbidding minors to enter into said premises. The only law applicable is Section 12960 of the General Code of Ohio as follows:

"Whoever sells intoxicating liquor to a minor under the age of 21 years or sells beer to a minor under the age of 18, or buys intoxicating liquor for, or furnishes it to a minor, unless given by a physician in the regular line of his practice, or by a parent or legal guardian shall be fined not less than $25.00 or more than $300.00, or imprisoned not more than six months in jail, or both."

We desire for the public to know that we have NO AUTHORITY to order a minor out of a place of business as long as he or she is accompanied by his parent, guardian or custodian or as long as he or she conduct themselves in a proper manner.

We do hereby PLEDGE ourselves to do everything in our power to combat the giving of liquor to a minor by his or her parent or custodian, and to conduct our places of business in an orderly and decent manner. We do feel, however, that the blame for the presence of minors in such establishments lies at the doorstep of the Ohio General Assembly and not with the local law enforcement officers. They cannot enforce laws that do not exist nor can the undersigned. We are welcoming suggestions from the public and are now working on a system to control all persons under 21 years of age. This plan will be announced as soon as completed.
